Post Acute Medical Donates 30,000 Surgical Masks to Victoria County

The spread of the COVID-19 virus continues to impact all of our daily lives. Throughout the country, there has been a well-documented shortage of masks for use by healthcare professionals and citizens.

Recognizing the urgent need, Post Acute Medical, LLC, which operates four hospitals in Victoria County, has announced that it will be donating 30,000 surgical masks to the Victoria County Health Department and County Emergency Management for distribution to citizens and healthcare providers in our region.

“We employ hundreds of people in Victoria County and treat thousands of patients each year,” said Anthony Misitano, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Post Acute Medical, which owns and operates over 40 long-term acute care hospitals and inpatient rehabilitation hospitals throughout the United States. “We have seen firsthand what this virus can do, having had a number of our healthcare professionals test positive for COVID-19. The more the spread can be controlled, the safer our healthcare professionals and citizens of the region will be.”

In Victoria County, Post Acute Medical operates PAM Rehabilitation Hospital of Victoria, PAM Specialty Hospital of Victoria South, PAM Specialty Hospital of Victoria North, and PAM Specialty Hospital of Victoria Southeast. “We want to do our own part to help the citizens and fellow healthcare professionals of the Victoria region work through these unprecedented times”, Misitano continued. “PAM has a longstanding relationship with the region, and look forward to working with our patients, employees, and healthcare partners as we overcome this pandemic.”
